Hello Furman Family!! We are ending our first quarter! Fifth grade is the house of Perseverance. We encourage our scholars to exhibit tenacity and that "keep at it" attitude. Please continue to talk to your scholars about integrity-doing what's right regardless of who is watching, and respect-treating others how they wish to be treated. We have many wonderful activities planned for our 5th graders. However, behavior dictates participation.

Mrs. Hill (5.3, Mathematics)

Mrs. Beckles (5.2, Reading, Writing and Language Arts)

Ms. Wallace (5.1, Science and Social Studies)

Mrs. Castillo (4th & 5th Self-Contained Special Education)

What's New and Exciting?

Fifth grade is excited to announce Friday Clubs. These clubs are designed to address cultivating the entire child. Your scholar was given a choice of what clubs they would like to participate in. Your fifth grade team are the Club Leads for the science club (Hill), the comic book club (Wallace) and the drawing club (Castillo and Beckles).

Your scholar has completed their first i-Ready testing. This test provided the baseline for instruction that is tailored to your scholars' academic needs. Don't forget to ask your scholar what their personal goals were and if they achieved them. Remember i-

Ready can be accessed from home. Your scholar can practice the skills needed to be successful during future testing.

After the break, you will receive information of the activities we will be participating in. Your participation is needed and encouraged.

Content Worthy!

We have had an enjoyable start to the year. We have studied the SOLVE strategy for word problems, multiplication fact masters, place value and patterns, addition of decimals, and subtraction of decimals. Please encourage your scholar to review these skills and others on their i-Ready program. Also, please be advised that scholars are given homework in mathematics on a daily basis. Please sign to indicate you have seen it.

Parents, there is a great free website that can assist your scholar improve their reading. The articles range from kindergarten to 12 grade. They cater to all reading topics and provide question sets, human voice, audio, and vocabulary activities. The website is called readworks.org. Homework is given in language arts on a daily basis. Please sign it to indicate you have seen it.

During quarter one your child will study First quarter begins our science unit. This month begins the study of our planet's atmosphere. This will include investigating weather patterns and the different variables that determine our weather. Please continue to encourage your scholar to discuss what they learned in class. This will help to reinforce the content.
