Principal's Word

Ready, Set, GO!!!

We are quickly approaching the completion of the first quarter of school. We can all agree that there is still much work to do. Whether in the classroom or in the home, our priority remains focused on student achievement and attendance plays a huge role. Consistent routines and expectations will strongly support student performance during learning. You continue to be your scholar's biggest advocate by remaining aware, updated, and active in school communication and functions and we appreciate your partnership in both the educator and parent role.

As we bring this quarter to a close, our school community will continue practicing our school rules, procedures, and learning systems. Students are expected to participate in daily lessons that meet grade-level. While this may be challenging to some of our scholars, the factors that drive student achievement and academic excellence remain the same. Work to implement some of the tips below to support your scholar meeting school and grade-level expectations.

1. Ensure your scholar attends school daily.
2. Support your scholar in actively participating and trying their best.
3. Maintain constant communication with the school and show a high value towards the home to school partnership.

Each day we are better and each week we are stronger. Let us continue to work collaboratively and in unified effort to improve the teaching and learning of all students. If we work together, improvement and growth is guaranteed. Thank you for taking the time to read this newsletter. Be safe, stay well, and remember to use your powers for good and not evil.

Educationally,

Principal Ballard

Ms. Ladaisha Ballard

A Message From the Social Worker

Hello Furman Families,

The school wellness team is here to offer children and families support in a variety of ways. The team members include;

Kristine Zwerlein-Rose, LCSW-C (Team Lead), Linda Callahan, LMSW (Early Childhood Mental Health Consultant), Ms. Dominique Butler (Assistant Community Schools Coordinator/ Attendance and Family Supports), Mr. Damian Jones (School Wholeness Specialist), Trisha Arkoi-Decatus (School Psychologist, Phillip Bartoloni, LMSW (Villa Maria/ Expanded School Mental Health Services)- If you feel your child or your family is in need of additional supports please reach out to Mrs. Rose for the appropriate referral.

Kristine Zwerlein-Rose
School Social Worker

This team supports the running of the school store, the monthly PBIS celebrations, homeless family supports as well as individual and family counseling services.

Hello from The Wellness Team!

Welcome Back to the 2022-2023 School year, I am the school social worker at FLTPA where I am starting my 27th year in this role. I like to be available to families and students in a variety of ways and hope to ensure that this school year is smooth transition 'Back to Normal'.

As the school social worker I have a variety of services that I support or offer to children and families including:

Individual and Small group counseling, crisis intervention, referrals for outside mental health resources, referrals to our school-based mentoring program, school pantry assistance, school uniform assistance and family referrals for outside resources as well.

I am also available to meet with parents virtually or on the telephone and discuss any specific questions that you may have.

I can be reached on my direct work line at 443-836-6444 or on my city school email kzwerlein-rose@bcps.k12.md.us

Core Value of the Month

CORE VALUE OF THE MONTH

This month's core value is respect. Respect is a positive feeling or action shown towards someone or something considered important or held in high esteem or regard. It conveys a sense of admiration for good or valuable qualities. In action it means to admire deeply. You must give respect to receive respect.

Synonyms: admiration, appreciation, esteem, favor, regard

Antonyms: disfavor, condemnation, disapproval, disdain, scorn

Ms. Kimberly Davis

Here are some ways we can show respect. We can:

1. Listen. Listening to what another person has to say is a basic way to respect them. Everyone likes to know someone is listening to them.
2. Affirm. When we affirm someone, we're giving evidence that they matter.
3. Serve. Serve means to give back to others or to use our talents and abilities to make life better for others.
4. Be kind. When we are kind to someone, we are giving of ourselves; sometimes in a tangible way sometimes by saying something nice or something that will uplift someone else.
5. Be polite. Being polite means to be well mannered, courteous or civil.
6. Be thankful. When someone does something for you that's beneficial or they say something to you that's helpful in some way or they honestly affirm you in some way that's important to you, you should thank them.

These are just a few ways we can show respect. How will you show respect today?

Deeply respecting yourself is the first step toward having a deep respect for others.

Intervention & GAL Programs

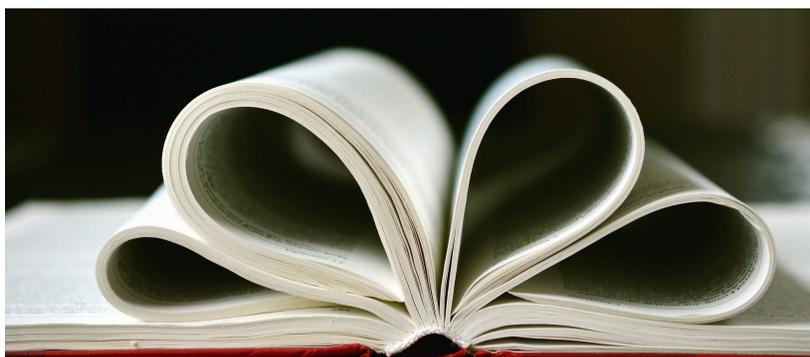

Illuminating Intervention

Welcome to the 2022–2023 school year!

This year we have adopted some new baseline assessments to determine the students' reading and math levels. For reading, we will now be using Amplify and MClass for guided reading levels and for reading fluency. The intervention team has been working with students since the beginning of the year to complete these assessments. The data gleaned from these assessments will be used to track students' progress, place students in small groups, and to identify students that may be in need of support by the intervention team. After testing is completed, the parents of students identified for intervention services will be notified via letter. Students that are identified for the intervention program will receive daily support in reading and/or math from an interventionist. All referrals for intervention will go through the Intervention department. If you have any questions, please see Mrs. Benton.

The Gifted and Advanced Learning (GAL) program will continue this year! Last year, we had 29 students in the GAL program in grades K through 5. Students in Kindergarten typically take the Naglieri Non-verbal Ability Test (NNAT3) to identify students for gifted and advanced programming. All K students will be assessed after completing a set of lessons about analogies and patterns. The lessons will expose the students to activities similar to those that they will complete on the assessment. If you need more information about our gifted program, please see our school website!

If you would like to know more about how to support your child at home, do not hesitate to ask! Mrs. Benton is available on Wednesdays to provide support for families. Please contact her by email at klbenton@bcps.k12.md.us or call 443.836.6439 to schedule an appointment.

Wellness Watch

Fall technically begins September 21st, and summer has been holding on with extremely warm temperatures over the last few weeks. The wellness tip for September will help you stay hydrated on these extra warm days. Water is the best choice for fluid consumption for people age 6 months and older! Did you know that the human brain is 70% water!

Consuming water instead of juice and/or sports drinks is healthier for your brain and your body! Australian researchers have found that children that drink who drink 16 oz. of juice or more per day are twice as likely to be overweight or obese. Also, juice given to babies and young children in a sippy cup or bottle are more likely to have tooth decay and cavities. According to the US National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, men should have 124 oz of fluid daily while women should have 92 oz of fluid daily. Twenty percent of that fluid should come from food and the rest from drinks. This month, when you or your child are thirsty, skip the juice and grab some water! If you need some zest, add a lemon or try sparkling water!

Attendance Updates

Attendance at FLT

Here at Furman L. Templeton, we are always striving for strong and successful attendance from our young scholars.

Each month our scholars who have perfect attendance receives a small prize and a certificate to celebrate their attendance accomplishments. Parents and guardians of students who have perfect attendance will also receive their own certificate for their contributions for getting their child to school each day. We celebrate our parents by placing their names in a monthly raffle for one lucky parent to win a gift!

We want every single one of our students to be successful and have good attendance. If you are having problems with getting your child to school, we are more than willing to work with you.

Partnership Highlight

We nominate, Stanley Snacks for School Kids, Inc., for this month's partnership highlights. We would like to say thanks for being a dependable partner. We are thankful for your act of service in providing our students with snacks they can enjoy throughout their day!

Stanley Snacks for School Kids, Inc., is a non-profit organization that provide snacks to public schools for kids who suffer from food insecurity and hunger. They have been given the IRS status of 501 (c) 3 and are registered with the Secretary of State of Maryland as a Charitable Organization.

Meet Our New Social Work Interns!

Charlotte Chason, SSW Intern
cchason@umaryland.edu

Nice to "meet" you! I'm Charlotte Chason, and I am a social work intern from UMB. I am working with Promise Heights in order to connect parents with resources and manage the newsletter alongside other community engagement tools. I am excited to see what this year brings! I love spending time outdoors, connecting with family and friends, and being active in my community.

Maura Hogan, SSW Intern
mhogan@umaryland.edu

Hello all! My name is Maura Hogan, and I am a social work intern from University of Maryland. For the past four years, I have worked with middle school and high school age students. Now, I am working alongside Ms. Linda with the Pre-K and Kindergarten classes. Outside of school, I love spending time with my dog, Bear!
